

ADR LUNCHTIME SERIES PRESENTATION

The Synthesis of Conflict Management and Employee Engagement

Employee engagement and successful conflict management are two essential components of a high-performing organization. Typically they are treated as separate concepts, working independently of each other. The presenters will define and explore each of these concepts and share many ideas on how these two seemingly disparate concepts can easily be brought together. The speakers will demonstrate how conflict management professionals and employees at all levels can advance creativity and innovation by enhancing this synthesis in the workplace.
